

25 JAN 2025

Source: <https://www.legislation.gov.uk/uk/acts/1998/12/section-100/1998-12-12/1998-12-12>

Section 100 of the Act, which provides for the following:

Section 100

(1) The following provisions apply to any person who is a member of a committee of the House of Commons:

1. Restrictions on the disclosure of information

- It shall be the duty of any member of a committee of the House of Commons to keep confidential any information which is disclosed to him in confidence by any person who is a member of a committee of the House of Commons.
- It shall be the duty of any member of a committee of the House of Commons to keep confidential any information which is disclosed to him in confidence by any person who is a member of a committee of the House of Commons.
- It shall be the duty of any member of a committee of the House of Commons to keep confidential any information which is disclosed to him in confidence by any person who is a member of a committee of the House of Commons.
- It shall be the duty of any member of a committee of the House of Commons to keep confidential any information which is disclosed to him in confidence by any person who is a member of a committee of the House of Commons.

2. Other provisions

(a) General

(b) Application of provisions

The provisions of this section shall apply to any person who is a member of a committee of the House of Commons, whether or not he is a member of the House of Commons.

(c) Interpretation

(d) Other provisions

Section 101

1. Restrictions on the disclosure of information

- It shall be the duty of any member of a committee of the House of Commons to keep confidential any information which is disclosed to him in confidence by any person who is a member of a committee of the House of Commons.
- It shall be the duty of any member of a committee of the House of Commons to keep confidential any information which is disclosed to him in confidence by any person who is a member of a committee of the House of Commons.
- It shall be the duty of any member of a committee of the House of Commons to keep confidential any information which is disclosed to him in confidence by any person who is a member of a committee of the House of Commons.
- It shall be the duty of any member of a committee of the House of Commons to keep confidential any information which is disclosed to him in confidence by any person who is a member of a committee of the House of Commons.

2. Other provisions

- It shall be the duty of any member of a committee of the House of Commons to keep confidential any information which is disclosed to him in confidence by any person who is a member of a committee of the House of Commons.
- It shall be the duty of any member of a committee of the House of Commons to keep confidential any information which is disclosed to him in confidence by any person who is a member of a committee of the House of Commons.
- It shall be the duty of any member of a committee of the House of Commons to keep confidential any information which is disclosed to him in confidence by any person who is a member of a committee of the House of Commons.
- It shall be the duty of any member of a committee of the House of Commons to keep confidential any information which is disclosed to him in confidence by any person who is a member of a committee of the House of Commons.
- It shall be the duty of any member of a committee of the House of Commons to keep confidential any information which is disclosed to him in confidence by any person who is a member of a committee of the House of Commons.
- It shall be the duty of any member of a committee of the House of Commons to keep confidential any information which is disclosed to him in confidence by any person who is a member of a committee of the House of Commons.
- It shall be the duty of any member of a committee of the House of Commons to keep confidential any information which is disclosed to him in confidence by any person who is a member of a committee of the House of Commons.
- It shall be the duty of any member of a committee of the House of Commons to keep confidential any information which is disclosed to him in confidence by any person who is a member of a committee of the House of Commons.
- It shall be the duty of any member of a committee of the House of Commons to keep confidential any information which is disclosed to him in confidence by any person who is a member of a committee of the House of Commons.
- It shall be the duty of any member of a committee of the House of Commons to keep confidential any information which is disclosed to him in confidence by any person who is a member of a committee of the House of Commons.

